Staff response

Allisyn Thomas, City attorney, responded to the comments made:

1) Raising rent as the result of the adoption of a redevelopment project, one of the primary aspects of this particular redevelopment plan is the preservation of housing stock, and preservation of low and moderate income housing. We are aware, and simply by the result adopting a redevelopment project area, we do not see rent going up.

2) The issue of assessed value goes to the feasibility of a redevelopment plan being successful, as Councilmember Kehoe mentioned it is important now that property values are finally starting to stabilize. That we can have a successful redevelopment project.

Mayor Golding said redevelopment has been successful in San Diego.

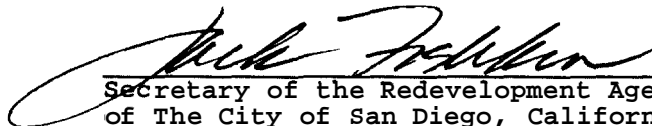

Councilmember Kehoe thanked the public, the PAC members, Ralph Dilts, Don Leichtling, and Karsten Gjemre. She said the business community, residential community, churches organizations, the North Park community, in support in the revitalization of this project.
